

Paul and his wife Mary Jo attend Mass every weekend. Both daughters and their grandchildren live out-of-state; they visit as often as possible.

He and his wife Mary Jo have been involved extensively with the church and community. Mary Jo volunteered for 20 years for Cardinal (then Bishop) Wuerl's weekly television program. During that time, both served as lectors on Sunday, as well as the daily televised Mass. Mary Jo served multiple terms on the Parish Council.

Before moving to Delaware, Paul served on the Board of the McGuire Memorial Home for special needs individuals near Pittsburgh for 25 years. In Delaware, Paul was a court-appointed Special Advocate for the Family Court in Sussex County working with youth in foster care. Also, he was President of the Friends of Sussex CASA.

Paul and Mary Jo clearly serve as a model of Catholic family values.
